Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill creates the Office of Violence Prevention in the Department of Health Services, establishes certain duties with respect to the office, and directs the office to award grants for community violence intervention. The bill provides that the office shall coordinate and expand violence prevention activities, and work to reduce the incidences of interpersonal violence and reduce death by homicide. To achieve this goal, the bill requires the office to accomplish all of the following:

1. Establish a violence prevention focus within DHS and any division of government that receives funding from DHS.
2. Develop collaborative relationships with other state agencies that are interested or active in the reduction of interpersonal violence.
3. Integrate violence prevention education into existing and planned state funded substance use and abuse prevention programs.
4. Support the development and implementation of comprehensive community-based violence prevention initiatives within cities and towns across the state.
5. Develop sources of funding beyond state revenues to maintain the office and expand its activities.

ASSEMBLY BILL 702

6. Create a directory of existing violence prevention services and activities in each county.

7. Develop and recommend additional wrap around and support services that include both interpersonal violence and suicide prevention programs and are funded by local governing bodies.

8. Support local organizations that provide violence prevention services in seeking out and applying for grant funding in support of their initiatives.

9. With the support of DHS, develop and implement a public health strategy.

Additionally, this bill directs the office to establish and implement a program to award grants to support effective violence reduction initiatives in communities that are disproportionately affected by violence. Grants are to be awarded competitively to counties and cities that are disproportionately impacted by violence, and to community-based organizations that serve the residents of those counties or cities. Where appropriate, the bill allows two or more counties and cities to submit joint applications to provide more comprehensive solutions. Grantees are required to submit to the office at regular intervals reports that describe the grantee's progress in achieving the grant objectives.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
